Do You Remember?

Prompted by a question from the Columbia University Scholastic Press Association critique relative to the volume number and to the name The PHOENIX, some members of the staff did some research concerning this. We are mainly indebted to Delana Luther's work in finding some copies of early yearbooks and bringing them to class for us to see. As far as we can determine, the first Denton High School yearbook was published in 1941 and was entitled HI-LIFE, as was the 1942 issue. We were unable to locate a 1943 book, but by 1944 the name had been changed to the FEENIX. No book was published in 1947, so that makes this 1980 book the thirty-ninth volume, if we include HI-LIFE. In 1952, the spelling of the name was changed to PHOENIX; just why, we do not know.

This investigation, together with the realization that this year is the end of the decade of the 70's and the beginning of the 80's, started us remembering some of the outstanding events of the past decade. After looking through the yearbooks of the last ten years, we have selected some pictures that represent some of these highlights. The staff hopes that you will enjoy this look into the past.

Only those who went to school in the old Junior High building and moved to the new building in 1969 can fully appreciate the new building with its larger halls, the lockers, better lights, and more storage space. This move was accomplished by students helping move desks and books. Finally the old building, which stood across the street from the High School where the parking lot is now, was demolished — an event happily watched by High School students as well as those in Junior High. A "first" for this year was "Meet the Raiders Night" at which time basketball players were introduced, rules were explained, and a scrimmage game was played.

Two new experiences awaited the Juniors and Seniors in the 1970-71 school year. In the fall, members of the Beta Club attended a rally at Appalachian State University, meeting members from other clubs and learning something about college life. Then in the spring, the Junior-Senior Banquet-Prom was held in High Point at "The Top of the Mart." Until this year the proms had always been either in the gym or in the cafeteria, which had required many hours of work decorating (or for some the opportunity to use this as an excuse to get out for the evening!).

The Student Council of 1971-72 sponsored the refinishing of the gym floor, and a favorite location for sports pictures came into being: the Red Raider emblem in the center of the basketball court. A look through The PHOENIX shows that mini-skirts were very much the style.

Students and faculty joined in the Davidson County Sesquicentennial celebration during the 1972-73 school year as they dressed in styles of the early 1800's and studied about life of that period. When the 1973 PHOENIX came out, the students were delighted to find that the former 7½ x 10½ size had been changed to the more popular 9 x 12 size. Long hair for the boys had almost suddenly become the fashion.

After years of sharing a building with the Home Economics department, the Agriculture department moved in 1973-74 across the road and just about as far away as it could and still be at Denton High! Then the Girls' Basketball team won the North Central 1-A Conference title and the Tournament Championship under the coaching of Mr. Wayne Plaster. Environmental pictures in color for the Senior section of the yearbook gave a new look to the book and a chance for each Senior to express his individuality. Finally in May the new media center was ready for use. Moving was done by the students who took armloads of books from the old room in the High School building to the new building. In the seventh and eighth grades a new program, Introduction to Vocations, was begun, giving students a chance to work in varied areas and thus helping them determine individual aptitudes.

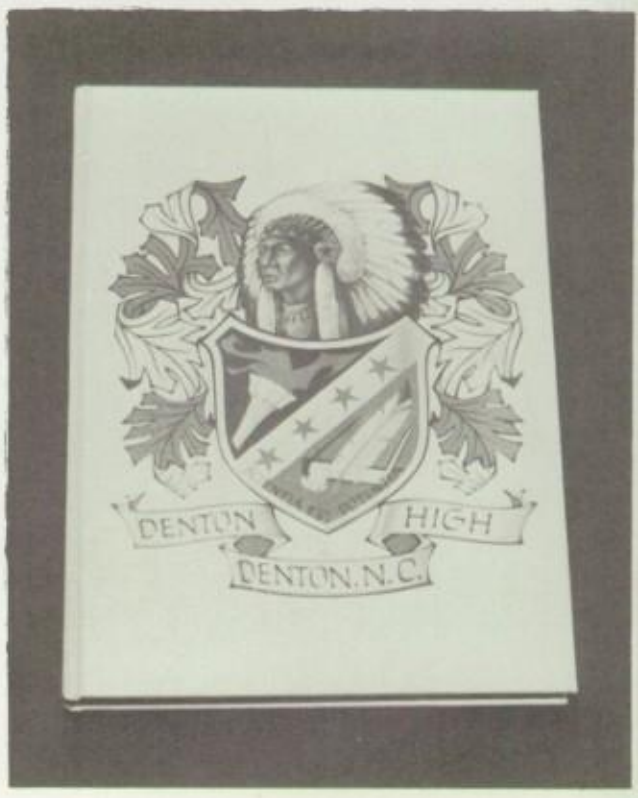
Raiders Have Best Season Ever:
Advance to North Carolina 1-A State Playoffs

The Whole Town Is Talking

Mr. Denton, Kim Smith, on His Throne

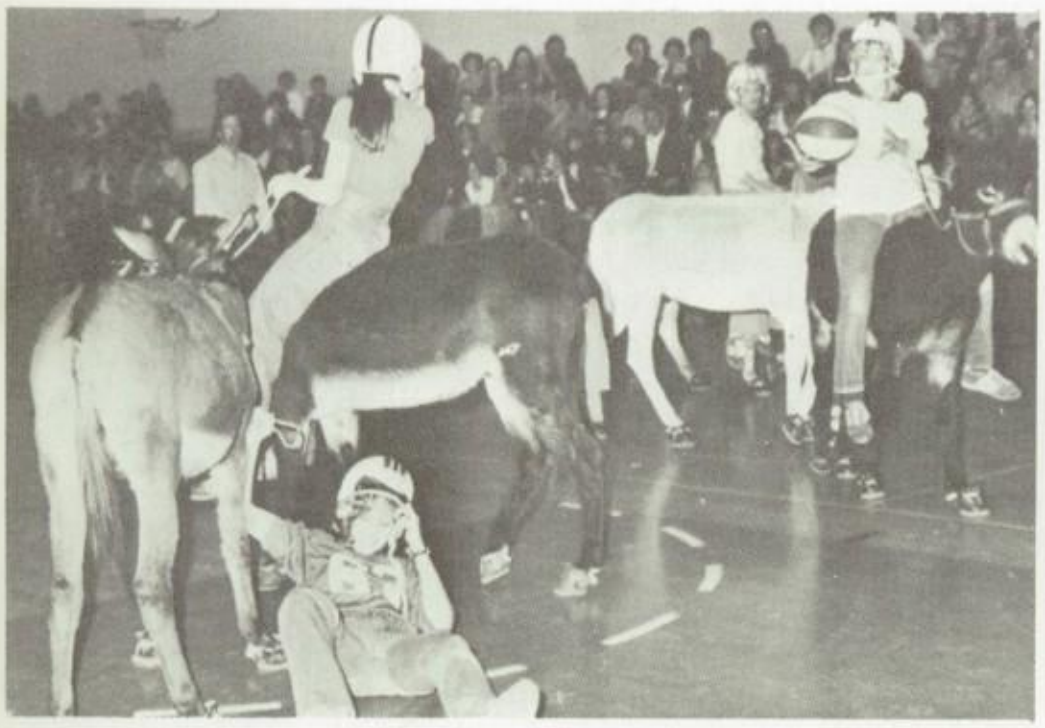
The year 1974-75 was very exciting for Denton students and town. Headlines in the Denton RECORD show that the whole town was talking about the football team... a team that went all the way to the North Carolina 1-A State play-offs in Robbinsville. Players and spectators will never forget the snowy field or the cold. The girls' basketball team won both conference and tournament titles for the second year in a row. The Senior Class led in the project of updating the school seal into a coat-of-arms of heraldic design which was pictured in color on the cover of the 1975 PHOENIX. About fifty five-year-olds found themselves in a new kindergarten program in a new building with carpeted floors and all kinds of activity centers. Not content to let the football and basketball teams receive all the honors, the baseball team slugged its way to the district play-offs, going to Cullowhee for a final game. To the delight of the entire audience, the Senior Class twice presented a variety of talent in "Spring Follies." The year ended with the retirement of Mr. M.T. Honeycutt, principal, and Mrs. Josephine Snider, secretary.

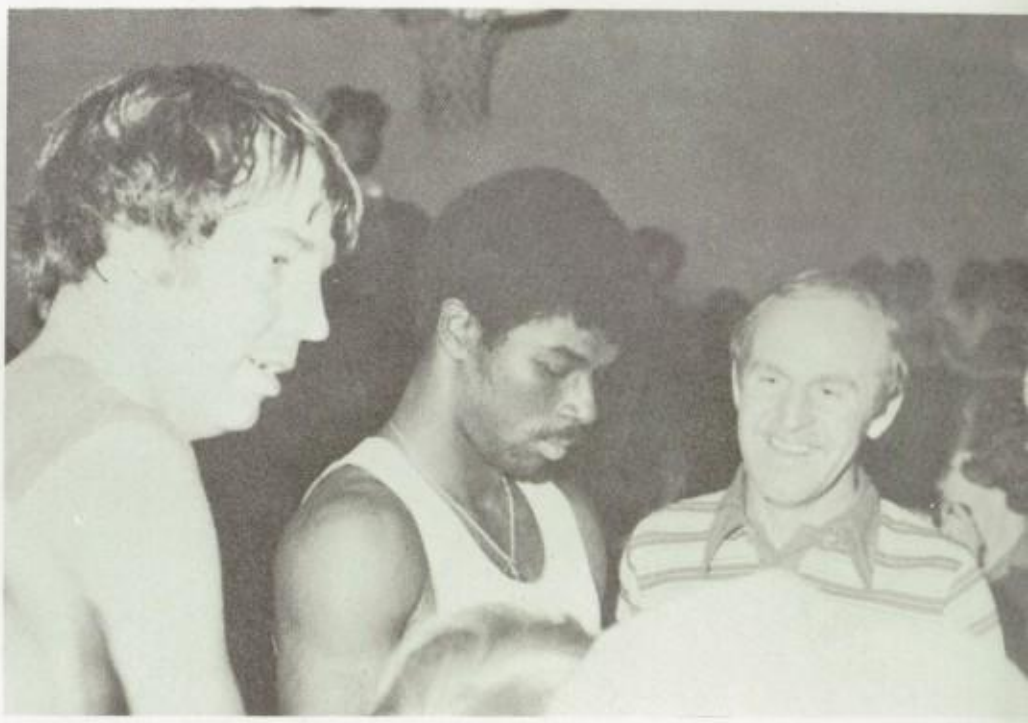


When school opened in the fall of 1975, students and faculty were faced with an entirely new situation. Before this year, all grades had been under one principal. Now we were two schools, under two principals, and yet in the same familiar buildings. Many adjustments had to be made as we shared some facilities. Led by Mr. Philip Rapp and Mrs. Susan Allen, the two systems were soon working smoothly. This was the year of America's Bicentennial celebrations, and in keeping with the interest in old things, The PHOENIX was printed on ivory colored paper, making it impossible to reproduce some of the pictures of the year. One of the new fun-filled activities was the first Crazy Olympics for us, a day which the students look forward to now, with the tug-of-war, tobacco spitting, pie eating and coke chugging contests, among other events. The girls really get into it in the shaving cream contest!

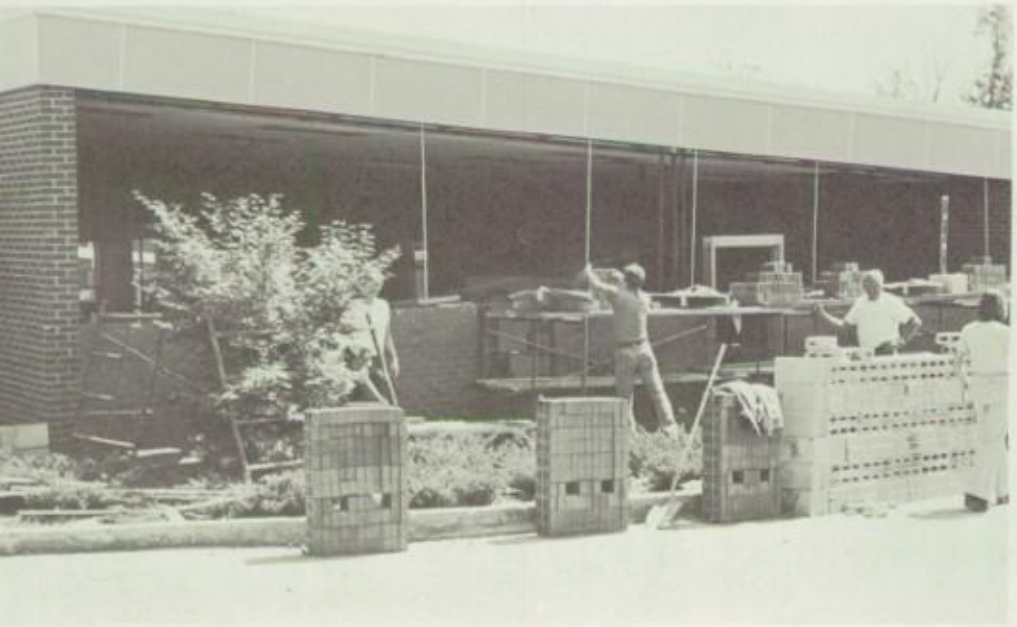
Title IX had a further impact on sports in 1976-77 with the addition of the first girls' volleyball team which, under the coaching of Mr. Wayne Plaster, had a 13-5 record for its first year. Denton's Future Farmers of America admitted its first girl member when Suzanne Wallace was initiated. An intramural program was set up, giving both boys and girls an opportunity to enjoy a game as well as get exercise. The Student Council inaugurated School Spirit Week featuring competition between classes in the wearing of headbands indicating grade level, the presentation of skits showing good and bad school spirit, the writing of essays, and decoration of hall areas with posters. The softball team, new last year, under the coaching of Mr. Ned Craver, was conference co-champions.

The High School building had a new look in 1977-78: newly panelled walls, new floors, lights, and partitioned rooms with one room being carpeted. The ICT program giving students credit for after-school work combined with classroom work, and credit for students who served as assistants to teachers were new curriculum changes. Remedial Math Labs were set up to assist students having difficulty with math skills. Channel 8 TV filmed the Kindergarten Thanksgiving dinner which the children had helped prepare. The Junior High football team won the conference championship, having given up only one touchdown to opposing teams during the season. A donkey basketball game showed how "ornery" those "critters" could be and how hard the floor was when someone took a fall. Then in the spring Carolina players Phil Ford and Geff Crompton came to play with local boys to the great delight of sports fans.





After having been "loaned" to Central Junior High School for a year, Mr. Jerry Koontz returned to Denton High as principal at the beginning of 1978-79. Early in the year the Juniors had to face the competency tests in Reading and Math as required by North Carolina for the first time. For the second consecutive year, the Junior High football team was conference champs, and a new gym which was badly needed was built for the use of the Junior High and Elementary students.



The 1979 half of the 1979-80 school year continued the excitement of the 70's. The Kindergarten had outgrown its area, so the building was enlarged by the addition of a new room. Gina Buie became the driver of Denton's first bus with automatic transmission. Many of the football players took up the fad of having their heads shaved; Greg Seabolt's haircut was the most unusual as he sported a "D." Whether shaved heads helped or not, it is hard to say, but the football team had a winning season for the first time since 1974, and Coach Hayes was named "Coach of the Year."

The Reverend Benny Clodfelter leads devotions at Thanksgiving, assembly after which Martie Harris takes her victory strut as "Miss Turkey" having won over contestants from other classes.

Classes make use of local people who share their knowledge and experience. Here, Mr. Baker, local pastor, talks to an English class answering questions on the theology of death and dying.

Training in summer camp plus more base strength adds to the interest in Pep Rallies as the cheerleaders do a variety of stunts.

In P.E. class: Who is braver? Benje or those on the floor(He made it!) Twenty person pyramid: as one goes up, one (or more) falls down. (It can't be seen, but there are five on the back row who deserve some recognition.)

Craig Gallimore, escorted by Angie Haltom, wins as "PowderPuff Queen."

Seniors win lunch trip to Clyde's for going over the top in candy sale.

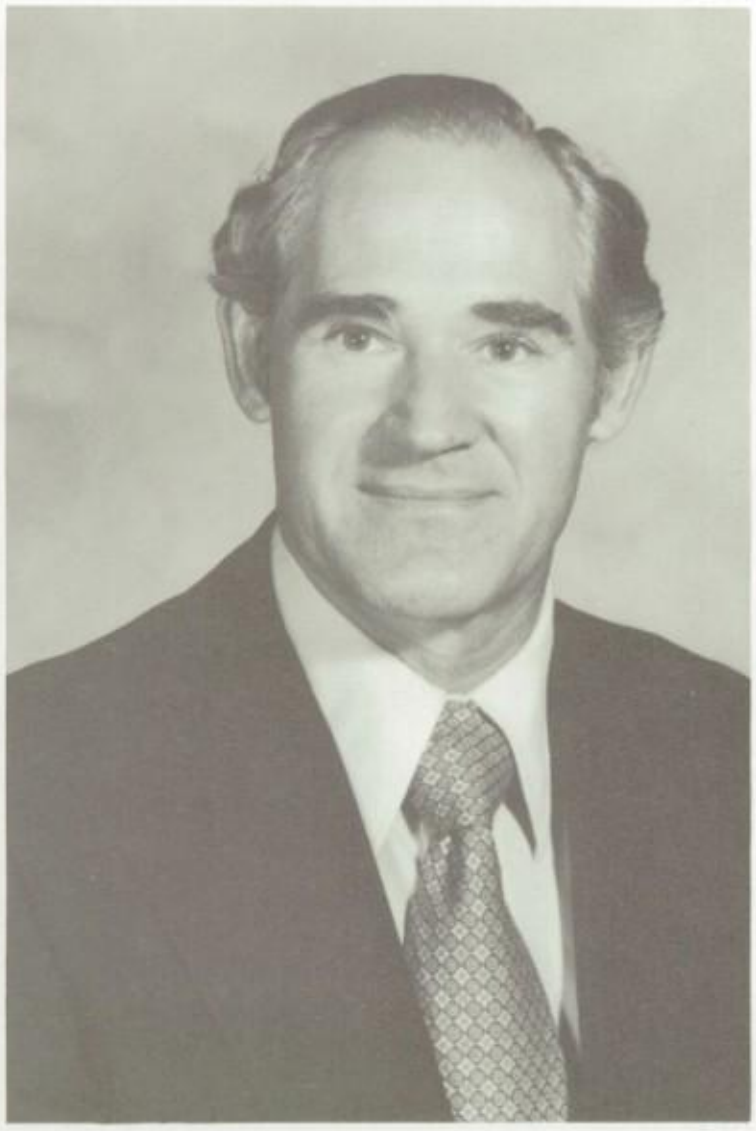
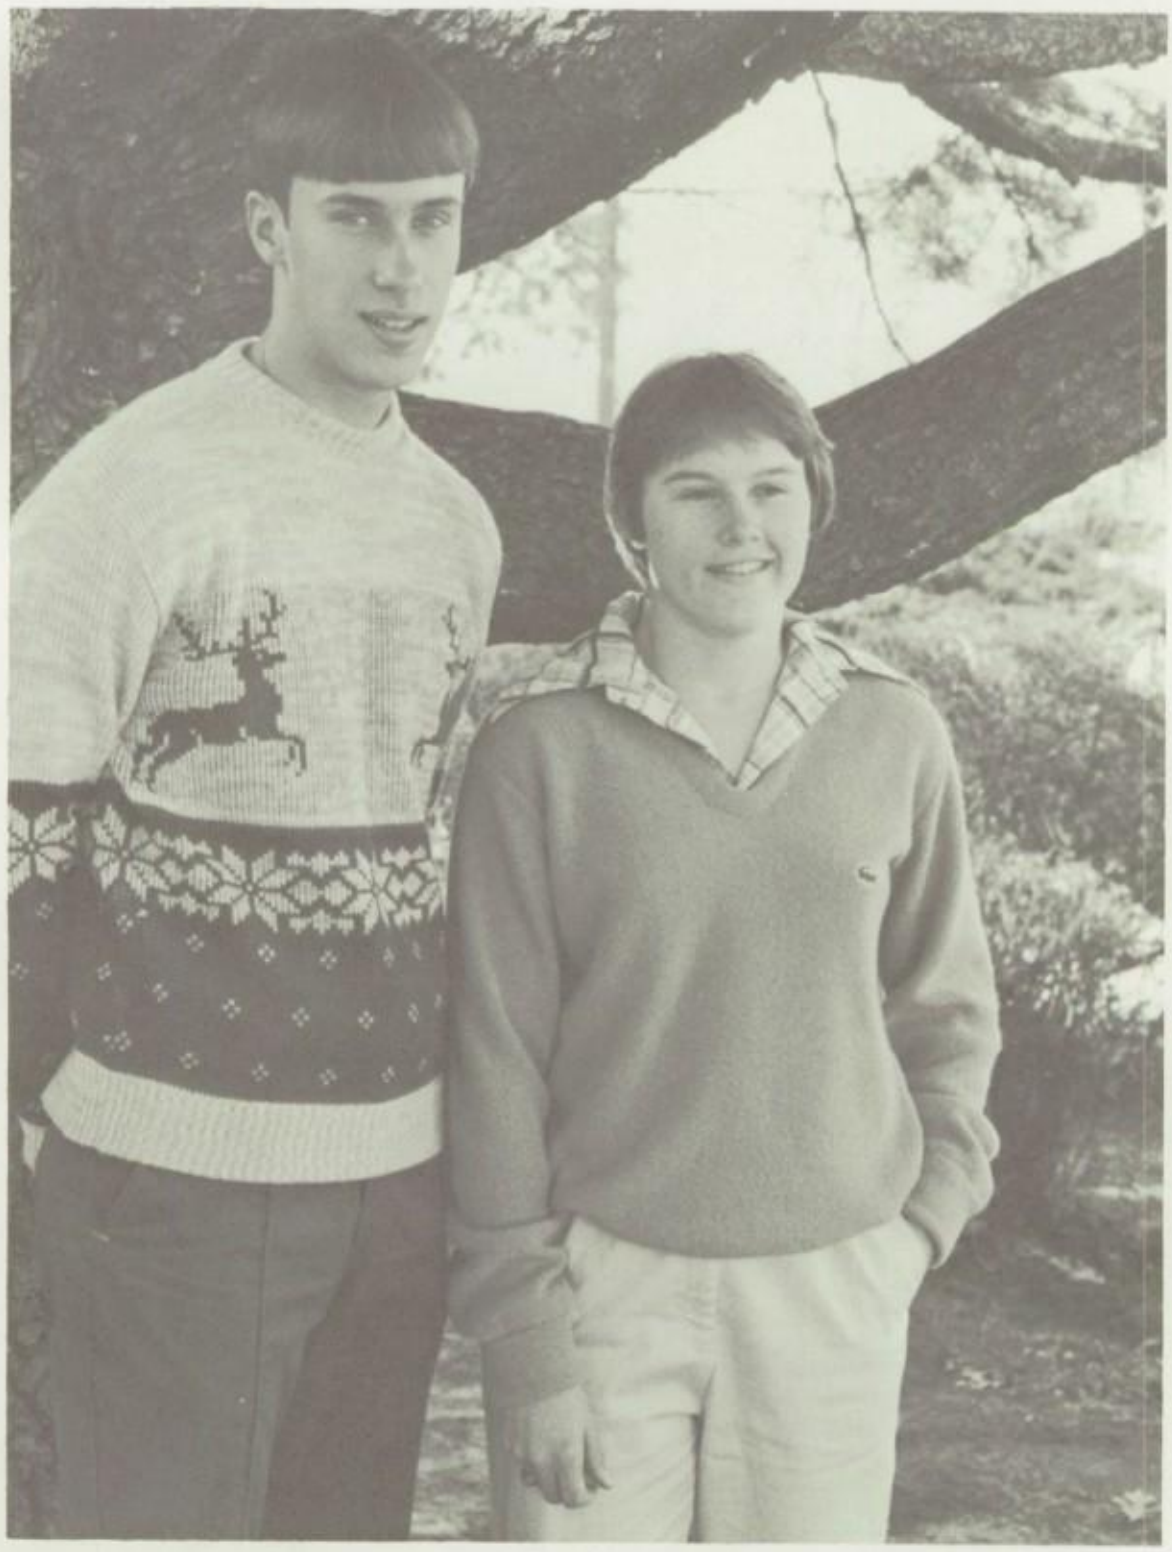
Below: Kindergarten teachers and students dress up.



Dedication

Seniors, when asked to choose the person whom they felt had made their year an exciting and fulfilling one, easily made the decision. It only seemed natural to choose this person who had changed the attitude of many people toward Denton High School. For the love and the gratitude he has shown us over the past year, we dedicate the 1980 edition of the PHOENIX to this man, thanking him for everything he has done for Denton High School and for proving that "Yes, We Can" is not just a dream but a reality — Mr. Howard Hayes.

Mr. and Miss Red Raider



Kenneth Rogers and Annette Loflin

Because they best represent the ideals and spirit of the school in the opinion of the faculty, Kenneth Rogers and Annette Loflin were chosen by the High School Faculty as Mr. and Miss Red Raider. Both have been class officers and student council officers, have participated in athletics, cooperated in all phases of extra-curricular activities, and at the same time have maintained high academic averages. Congratulations to two outstanding students.

Homecoming 1979 was highlighted by the presence of the band and flag girls in the parade. Various activities of homecoming week include locker decoration day (winner: Neil Carroll), and fifties day (winners: Butch Hogan and Harriet Matthews). At the homecoming pep rally, the cheerleaders gave a cake decorated with football motifs to the coaches and football players.

Nighttime activities include bonfire, pep rally, and speeches by Coach Hayes and senior football players.

The Christmas program, which was sponsored by the Student Council, was a good beginning for the holiday season. Keith Newell was the guest speaker, and Santa made his customary brief visit at the end. In between, the band and chorus gave numbers from their Christmas concert, and Alecia Adams sang.

Donella Carroll, escorted by Kim Markham, reigned as Queen at the Christmas Dance, and Barbee Stringer, escorted by Greg Seabolt, was Maid-of-Honor.

The Hardworking Student Council Of 1979-80

In addition to the customary activities of operating the concession stand during ball games, the student council sponsored a student teacher day during which the students taught the class instead of the teacher. Among the students teaching, Mark Dobbins conducted the chorus of which Mr. Grimmett became a "student," and Martie Harris taught shorthand.

The new members of the club raised two hundred dollars for their initiation. Part of this money was raised by selling doughnuts. The money was presented to the Mount Vista Nursing Home.

Another club activity was putting up a Christmas tree in the student center during the holiday season.

Annual Christmas Party

The club's Christmas party for the local handicapped citizens was a huge success. Events in which everyone participated included the hoky-poky, games, and eating. Special guests were the clown with his invisible dog and a baby elephant. Another guest whose appearance highlighted the party was everyone's favorite, Santa Claus. Everyone had a chance to sit on Santa's lap to tell what was wanted for Christmas. Santa also had presents for all the guests.

The Spirit Of '79

The atmosphere has been completely different this year with a spirit of cooperation, unity, and enthusiasm combined with fun and prankishness. Senior football players have wholeheartedly entered into the game, giving us a winning season. Nan Buie, Gina Buie, Martie Harris, and Angie Haltom get in the mood of the '50's during Spirit Week as they dress in style. Pep meetings are times for a show of class spirit as classes compete for the dynamite stick. Red and White Days bring out students and faculty in school colors, complete with feathered headdress, and students enjoy a break between classes as they gather in the commons area. Suspenders sold by the band are worn by many of the faculty and students. Gina Buie pays off a bet she made with Nan Buie that Nan would not wear a pair of spike-heeled, pointed-toe green satin slippers as she cheered at a pep rally. Nan did!

The Float: as originally planned; with a change of heart; as we finished.

Help The BOOSTER CLUB Help Us

D.H.S. Boosters

The success of the athletic program is not entirely due to the athletes themselves, for behind the scenes there must be boosters — those who quietly give time and work but receive little recognition. Denton School has needed a field house for years, and this dream has finally come true, helped by a check for $5,000 from the AMVETS presented by Mr. Howard Spencer to Mr. Earl Caulder, President of the Booster Club. Members of the Booster Club also sold hot dogs during basketball games to help raise money for the athletic program. Classes and clubs operated the concession stand during games or had suppers prior to a game, helping both the athletic program as well as themselves as a group.

An active weight-lifting program has strengthened the boys as well as the scores.

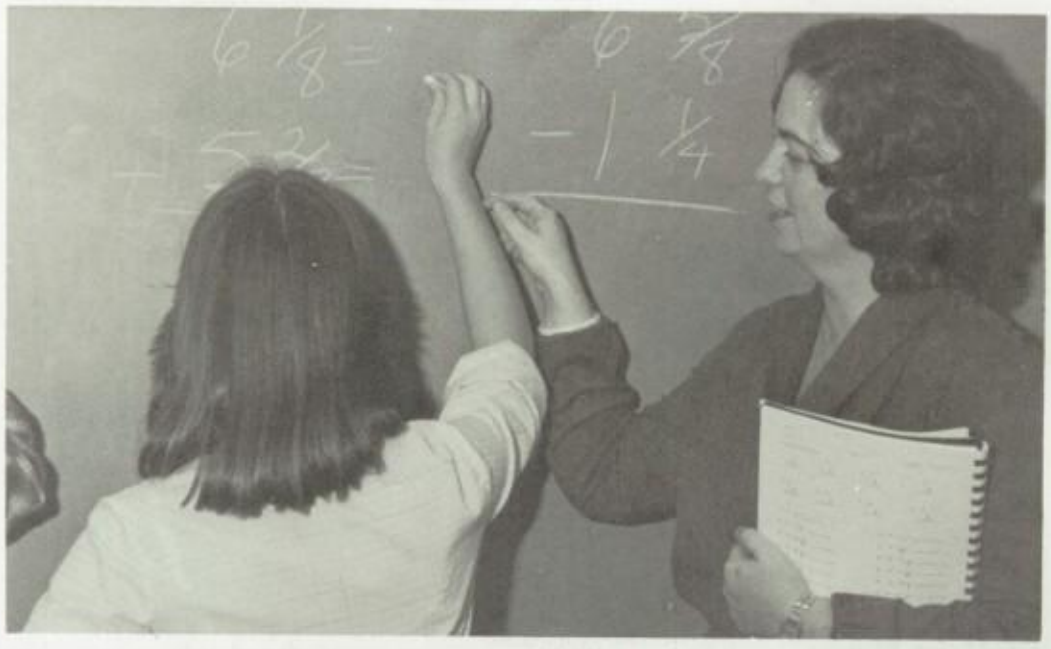
Learning Through A Variety Of Classroom Activities

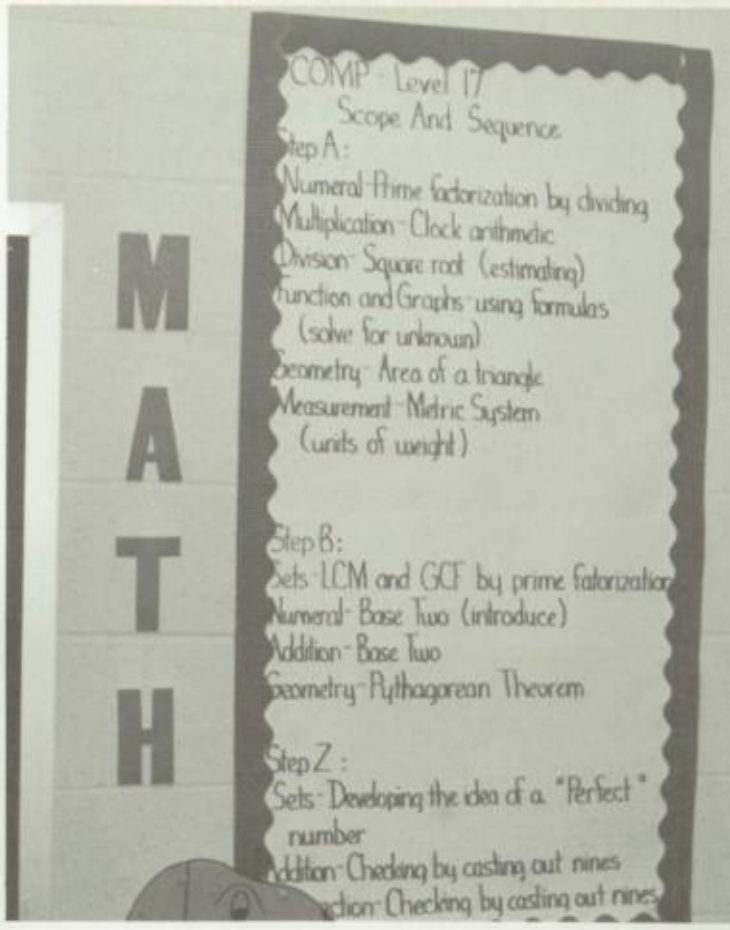
Classes may be in the traditional form of the teacher standing before the students lecturing, and students working at their desks, or they may be opportunities for developing skills such as art classes.

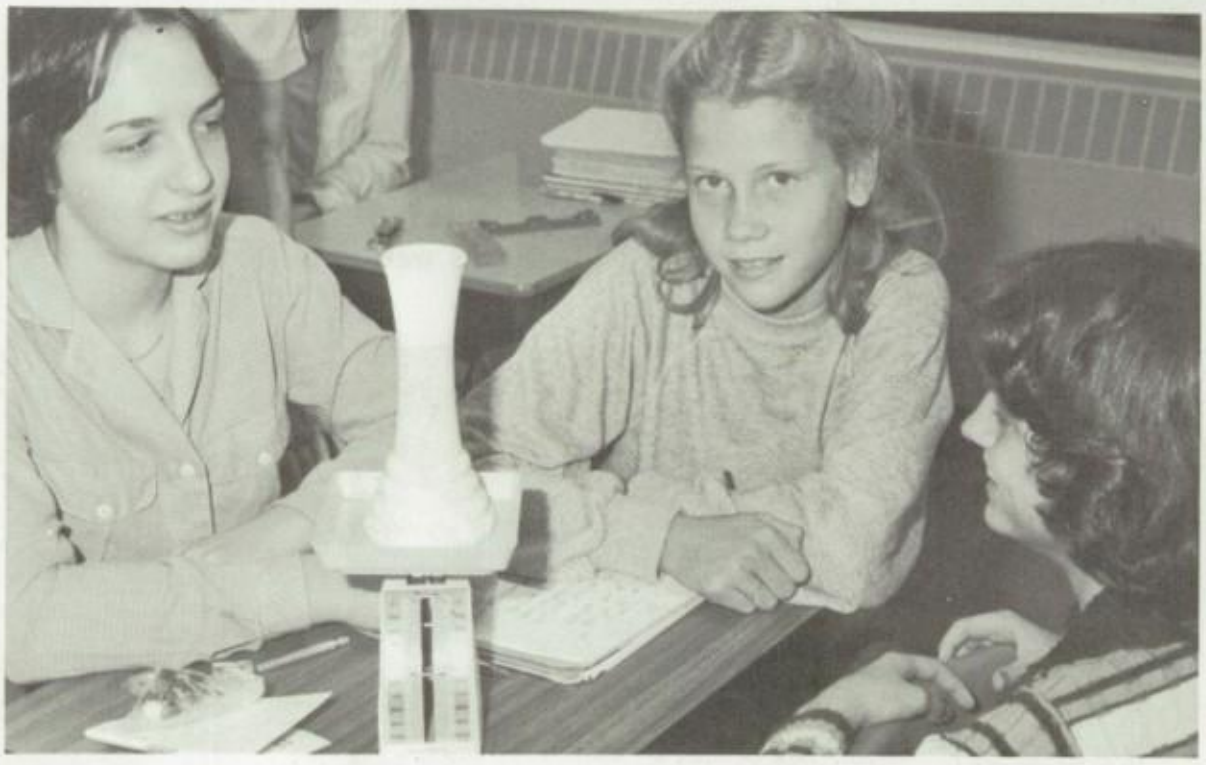
Other types of classroom activities involved the Consumer Math Class taking a field trip to the local bank. At lower left, games provide a change of pace as well as develop spelling skills. At lower right, lab experiments reinforce textbook information.

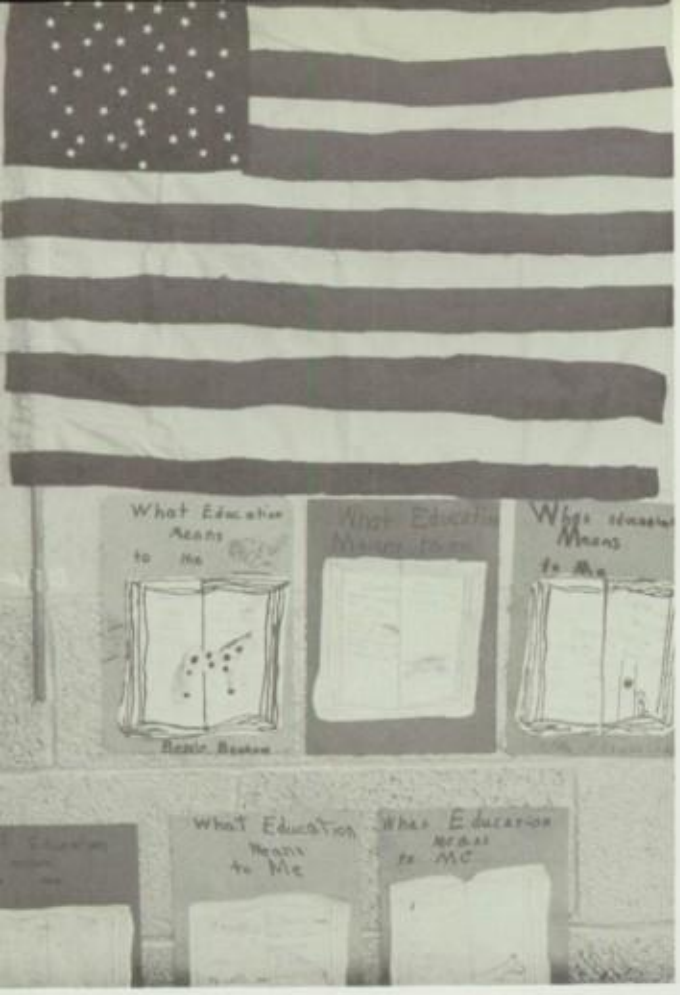
Sewing and cooking provide immediate and tangible results as the girls made throw pillows to decorate rooms, cook, or learn needlepoint and crewel embroidery. At left, some of the faculty members enjoyed a lunch prepared by the first period Family Life Education class.

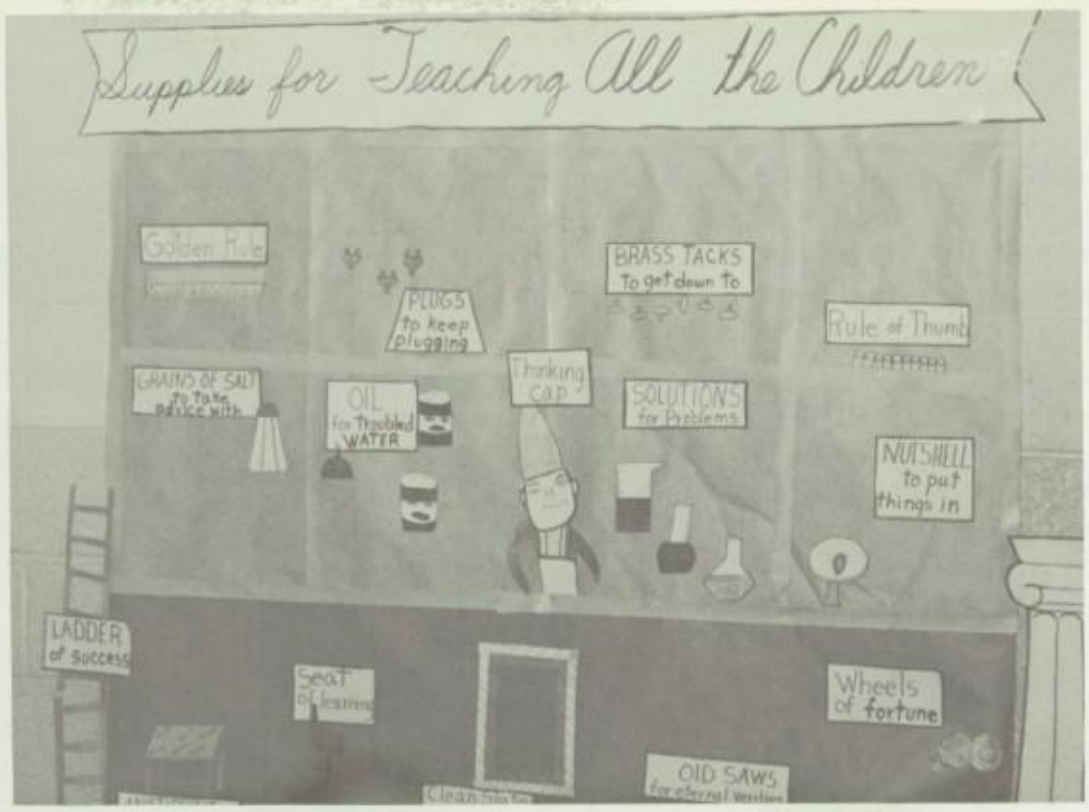
The COMP (Conceptually Oriented Mathematics Program) is a management system that is both diagnostic and prescriptive. It provides a comprehensive program designed to meet individual needs in math through small group instruction. Students are tested to determine their individual strengths and weaknesses and are grouped accordingly, moving from one level to the next when they have mastered the concepts of that level. At scheduled times everyone studies math, and on occasions even Mrs. Allen has gotten into the act. Each lesson in the program has suggested activities. Pictured here are students in Mrs. Terrell's and Mrs. Harris's classes with some of the manipulative materials and games used in the learning process.











The Elementary School observed American Education Week and Children's Book Week simultaneously with a Parade of Storybook Characters. Students dressed as favorite persons from stories and walked across the stage where they were greeted and introduced by Mother Goose. Posters in the halls displayed short compositions by pupils, as well as other ideas pertaining to education.

Jr.-Hi. 50's Dance

Some Lighter Moments

The routine of class is frequently broken by " extra curricular" activities, one of which is the annual Powder Puff game with its half-time show. Representatives elected by each homeroom provided a little "cheesecake" in the Powder Puff Queen contest in which Craig Gallimore was crowned Queen. Some of the "girls" were almost beautiful! On the opposite page Karen Slaten is shown helping herself to goodies at the Christmas party in Spanish class, and some Freshmen "ham it up" for the photographer during lab. As a reward for their going over the goal in magazine sales, the juniors had a "hog party". It is obvious that some enjoyed making hogs of themselves. Christmas always provides a change of pace. Kim, Sherry, and Craig decorated a tree in the Media Center for all to enjoy. On the last day of classes before the holidays, the Spanish II class gave Mrs. Domecq roses, Mr. Miller's art class enjoyed refreshments (as did the other classes) and Keith joined in at the Holiday Disco Dance.

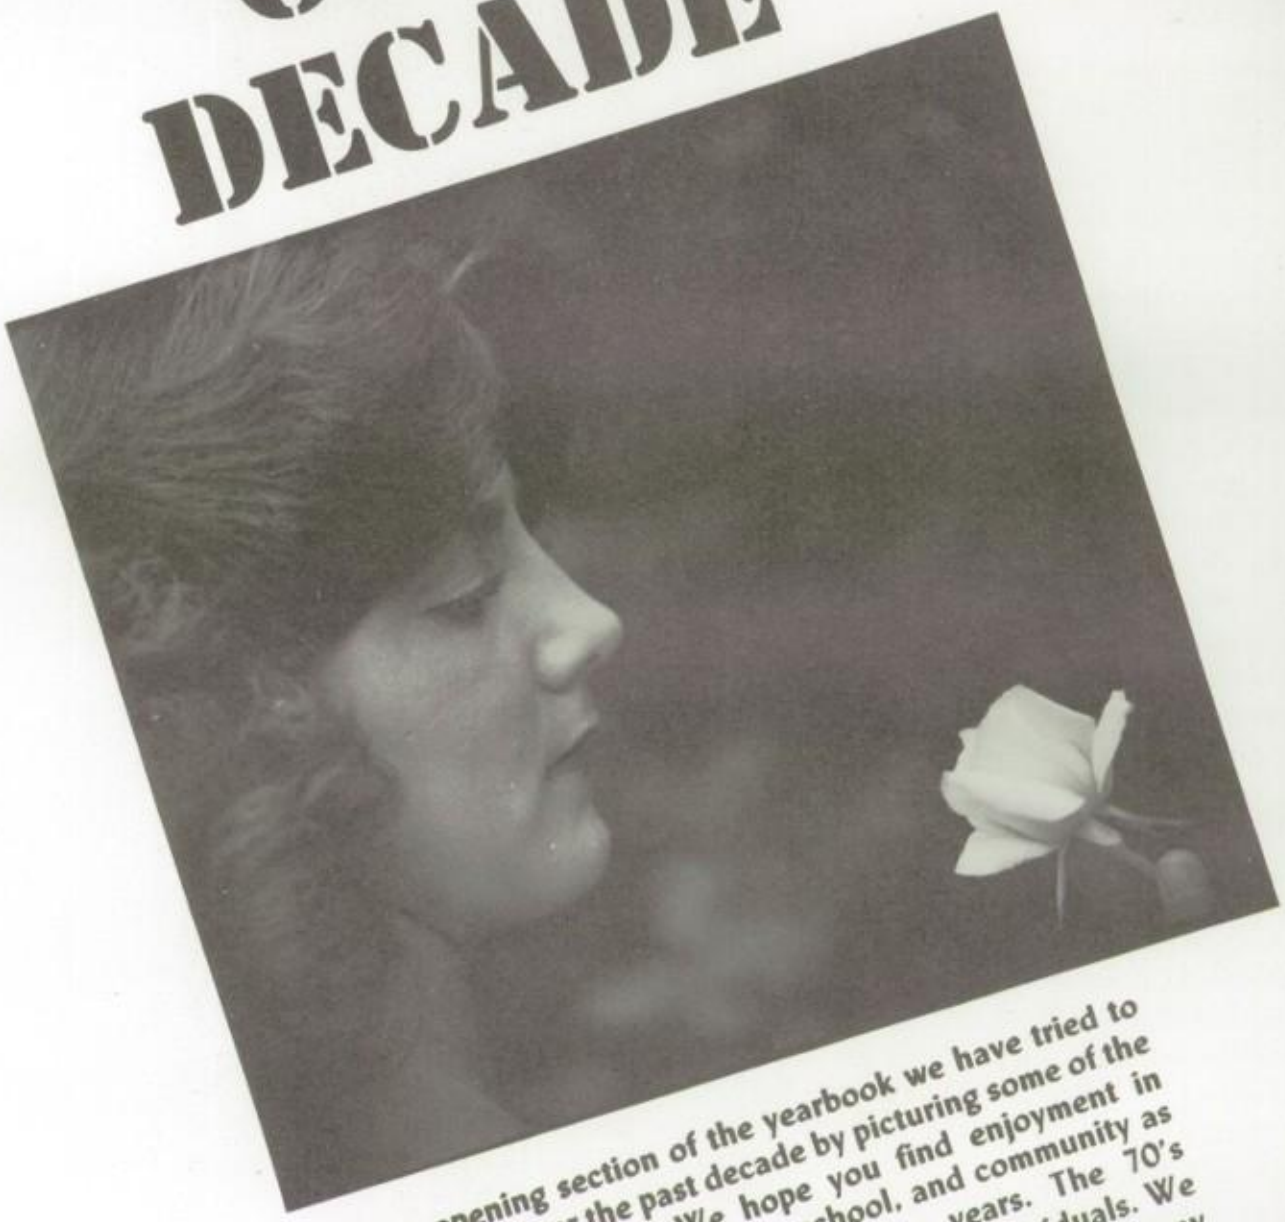
THE BEGINNING OF A DECADE



In the opening section of the yearbook we have tried to take you back over the past decade by picturing some of the highlights of the 70's. We hope you find enjoyment in seeing your classmates, friends, school, and community as they have changed over the past ten years. The 70's brought forth many changes in our lives as individuals. We have met new friends, seen new places, and sought many dreams. Did you succeed in reaching your goals? As you look into the future, what kind of life do you see for yourself? You will have some happy and some sad moments, but all of them will be a part of you. You made them happen. When the 80's are gone will you be able to say that you have accomplished something; you have helped the ones who needed it; and most important, have you been happy with yourself? I hope so. Good luck in the beginning of a decade: 1980.
